Overview

The TTV2-BELT is one unit of a two-unit system used to account for keys used by maintenance employees or service technicians. The system is worn on the belt. When the Key Unit is detached from the Belt Unit the devices begin communications via a Bluetooth LE protocol and continues to communicate every 150 ms until the key unit is returned to the belt unit or the separation distance between the two unit reaches a set distance (5 – 8 steps), at which time both units are set into an alarm state.
